J SAW Helen Moore the other day in an awfully good looking dark blue dress and a black straw hat, with high black wings on it. It was a stunning get up. and she is so good looking anyhow, with her shining gold hair and blue eyes. She engaged to Captain R. Fepton Fisher. of Jamestown, N. Y., you know, and the wedding is to be on the twenty-first of May. Her mother, Mrs. George Cameron, is much the same type as Helen, tall and well built, with the same gold hair and pretty skin, and she always dresses in extremely good taste. They live out in Germantownin a white house right across the street from Germantown Academy-and the wedding will take place in Calvary Church,

SUCH a gay crowd of soldiers as I saw Syesterday afternoon in a perfect bunch of cars going out through the park toward Overbrook. One motor after another passed me us I walked along and I raw neross the hood of each car a huge sign with "Red Cross" on it, and then I recognized several people, and it was one of the Red Cross auxiliaries, and all the women of the board of managers who had cars had given theirs for the hospital boys and were taking them out to Valley Forge. And they were out to Valley Forge. And they were smoking and eating sandwiches and having a wonderful time.

DID you know that the Overseas Club of the Emergency Aid is benefiting by the welfare dances of the afternoon and evening at the Walton all this week, and next week the Visiting Nurse Society is to be the beneficinry? Mrs. John C. Norris, one of the five stun-

On the committee of the Visiting Nurse Society are Mrs. Tom Dolan, president; Mrs. Norman Jackson, Mrs. Horace Howard Furness, Jr., Miss Nina Lea, Mrs. Clarence A. Warden, Miss Mary S. DID you know that Mrs. J. Archer Ralon, of Devon, has been quite seriously ill? She is just out of the hospital after an operation and is getting better now. You know she is a member of the Red Cross Motor Corps, or Motor Messengers, which is so much easier to say, and she did perfectly wonderful work driving. She used to drive all the way into town from Devon and then drive all day and then drive all the way home again. And last summer at Cape May she carried wounded men, and she has been having wounded men out there to her farm to recuperate at various times.

While she was cranking her car it kicked, Funderstand, and burt her very badly, and has been out of the service ever since. 'sn't that hard to have to give up just when o many wounded men are coming home and e is so much work to do. And Mrs. Ruon, I hear, was way up on the list of hard corkers of the organization. She is better, but I imagine it will be a long time before he can drive again.

SHE was learning to write on the type-writer, for since the war she did not care to dance or play cards and so on, you know-I mean she was taking lessons in stenography, and she was writing all those ridiculous sentences that you have to write in order to show that you she went slowly and then she went a little faster, and still it didn't break. She was delighted, and then she discovered that sometimes the letters formed correctly and sometimes, oh horrid sight, they didn't. So she tried it out to find out why, and this is what I saw when I happened to glance over "The quick brown fox her typewriter: jumped over the lazy dog this is a specof the work of thes much the quiek brown fox jumped over the lazy dogooooooo, there

Fears New Bills Will Hurt the City To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger Sir-If this state is going to pass bills like the one presented by Mr. Flynn, and is, at the same time, going to defeat bills such as the recent one presented by Mr. Rorke, there is a question in my mind as to whether Pennsylvania is going to continue to be a good place in which to reside

From my point of view, Penusylvania, and in particular Philadelphia, offers less attraction as a place of residence to people of moderate means than any other large city n the country, and certainly the laws under consideration will not tend to add to the attractiveness of Philadelphia as a place for permanent residence.

An appropriate international would possibly do more than anything else to safeguard the world's peace, and hold the nations together in a federation. I have for long given the matter much thought. I have devised several appropriate designs for a flag.

I shall be pleased to take the matter up with those interested.

The American Snob

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger. Siv-Permit me to thank you for what on say about "The great American snob." Is his and her mane not legion, and is the tribe not increasing and multiplying in the land? I was particularly pleased to what you said, because it proves that Wil mington is not peculiarly and particularly afflicted with this strange disease. I say this because I take it that your remurks are due to your observations and reflections in your home town and environment.

We despair sometimes when we look and listen at what is going on about us. Oh. Americanism, what crimes and hypocristes are being practiced in thy name!

I believe in the American people, but I do it because I see and reflect on the splendid virtues of the humble and the obscure. God tion on the conspicuous and the glorified and on those who seek the spotlight and glory! Americanism? Men talking about Ameri eanism who give their money to Democrats and Republicans to buy elections. The best American in Delaware can have the effect of his vote canceled by a vote that can be bought anywhere from $10 to $50, and it looks as if the price would advance, for another Rickmond is in the field.

There are several thousand naturalized voters in Wilmington. I know of one na tionality where there are about 800 votes which can be delivered by one man, and they are delivered by one man. Of course, teaching these men English is making Americans out of them, as, of course, it is making Americans of those who give the money to buy the votes!

And the preacher knows it and talks about prohibition and the enforcement of the blue laws and regulating this, that and the other, which book like little sins to me, if they look like sing whatever.

And the publicist knows it, and he holds his tongue for some rich friend of his who s getting favors because of the vote-brying and might be offended; and the "state-man knows it, and he is dumi, because he knows or should know, and must know, that the moment be would speak be would be claif lenged to defend his own success and his ambitions. And we are dumb, and we talk and talk and talk.

If it is true that there must be a difference of opinion about the meaning of American sto I insist that there can be no difference of opinion as to what Americanism does not mean, and it does not mean the snobbery which you speak about, and it does not mean the frightful ignorance and hypocrisy which I speak about, which is, I submit, only another symptom of snobbery JOHN 8.
